CARY RAJINDER SAWHNEY

Welcome back to the festival, which this year has evolved into a hybrid festival. You can watch it in cinemas in London, Birmingham, and Manchester, or on your own sofa at home, via our digital site www.LoveLIFFatHome.com, that is accessible anywhere in the United Kingdom. Our talks and certain events are also accessible worldwide.

A big personal thanks to all our audiences who stayed with the festival last year and helped make it one of the few success stories in the film industry. This year's festival is dedicated to you with love.

Highlights of this year's festival include our inspiring Opening Night Gala WOMB about one woman gender activist who incredibly walks the entire length of India to explore the experiences of other women in its billion plus population. See it at BFI Southbank and Ciné Lumière.

Our themed strands in this brochure cover online and cinema-based movie premieres and events. They start with our Young Rebel strand (which literally challenges all the stereotypes!) with UK premieres of a host of talented emerging filmmakers, showing young people's real-life challenges and experiences.

Our special strand this year is on Great British Asian filmmakers, and we are delighted to honour Film Producers and Directors such as director Asif Kapadia (The Warrior, Amy, Senna), and writer Hanif Kureishi (My Beautiful Laundrette, The Buddha of Suburbia). At the Barbican, we co-host a special retrospective of the films of activist filmmaker Pratibha Parmar. We will be celebrating the 20th production anniversary of feel-good hit Bend It Like Beckham with an intro by director Gurinder Chadha, at Roof East Stratford. UK director Sarah Gavron (Rocks), is expected to talk about her film Brick Lane. Alongside this will be a whole host of classic British Asian movies and talks including the rarely seen British Asian all-star film Flight - expect special guests for that one! Of course, we are also showcasing new British Asian talent in some amazing shorts packages. So it's your chance to find out more about 'our' rich story and contribution to the UK.

Dive deep into our Extra-Ordinary Lives strand with amazing dramas and documentaries from across South Asia. Including the must-see Ahimsa: Gandhi, The Power of The Powerless, a documentary on the incredible global impact of Gandhi's non-violence ideas; Abhijaan, an inspiring biopic exploring the life of the late and great Bengali actor Soumitra Chatterjee; Black comedy Ashes On a Road Trip; and Tiger Award winner at Rotterdam Pebbles. Look out for selected online premieres too.

We also introduce a new strand dedicated to ecology-related films, called Save The Planet, with some stirring features about lives affected by deforestation and rising sea levels, and how people are meeting the challenge.

We are expecting a host of special guests as usual and do check out our brilliant online In Conversations with Indian talent in June - where we will be joined by Bollywood Director Karan Johar, and rapidly rising talented actors Shruti Haasan and Janhvi Kapoor, as well as featuring some very informative online Q&As on all our films.

We are delighted to welcome back our many regular partners, including a thanks to our Title Sponsor Bagri Foundation who will be supporting us for the 7th Year in London. Thanks to BFI Audience Fund, Birmingham City University, and to our many friends and supporters.

To support the ongoing Covid pandemic in India and other South Asian countries, we are asking our audiences to visit our donations page at LoveLIFFatHome.com and kindly help out if you can.

For cinemas, you can buy tickets via booking links on our website, or directly at partner cinemas. For online viewings, please follow the booking guidance on www.LoveLIFFatHome.com

Please remember that Covid safety regulations are strictly administered by all of our venue partners and you will be required to wear a mask throughout all cinema screenings.

We look forward to seeing you in cinemas and online!

Warm regards,

Cary Rajinder Sawhney

IN CONVERSATION WITH HANIF KUREISHI

---

One of Britain's best known screenwriters, Hanif Kureishi CBE is of mixed Pakistani and English origin. He earned his degree in Philosophy at King's College London. He went on to write plays for the Hampstead Theatre, and by the age of 18, was with the Royal Court. He wrote My Beautiful Laundrette in 1985, a screenplay about a gay Pakistani-British boy growing up in 1980s London for a cult film directed by Stephen Frears, which won him an Academy Award nomination for Best Original Screenplay. Kureishi's drama The Mother was adapted into a movie by Roger Michell, which won a joint First Prize in the Director's Fortnight section at Cannes Film Festival. The television miniseries, based on the novel The Buddha of Suburbia, and film My Son the Fanatic based on his own short story of the same title garnered him recognition as an astute story teller. See him in a live Q&A on stage at the BFI Southbank, with the screening of My Beautiful Laundrette.

IN CONVERSATION WITH ASIF KAPADIA

Oscar, Grammy Award, BAFTA winning British filmmaker Asif Kapadia is one of the first British Asians to make huge waves in the world of cinema. His first feature film The Warrior was nominated for three BAFTA awards, winning two, including Outstanding British Film of the Year. The Warrior was the first international role for the late, great Irrfan Khan. Kapadia won accolades for his trilogy of documentaries Senna, Amy & Diego Maradona, showing an uncanny ability to take archive footage and tell compelling cinematic stories about key figures and the price of fame. Kapadia directed episodes of the series Mindhunter for David Fincher & Netflix, he executive produced the music series 1971: 'The year that music changed everything' and he co directed & executive produced the series The Me You Can't See with Oprah Winfrey and Prince Harry focusing on mental health and well being, both for AppleTV+. Watch him take a deep dive into his career on stage at The BFI Southbank, with acclaimed film critic Hanna Ines Flint.

IN CONVERSATION WITH GURINDER CHADHA

Celebrating the iconic British BAFTA and Golden Globe nominated film Bend It Like Beckham at the 20th anniversary of its production, British Punjabi director Gurinder Chadha OBE, returns to the Festival to introduce this film at a unique open air screening at Rooftop East. Best known for her films like the BAFTA nominated Bhaji on the Beach, Bride and Prejudice, Viceroy's House, and Blinded by the Light, Kenya born Chadha started her media career in radio, and then TV as a BBC news reporter, going on to direct award-winning documentaries for the British Film Institute, BBC and Channel Four. Empowered by vibrant British Bhangra music, she created a seminal documentary on British Asian identity, entitled I'm British, But... Gurinder is a patron of Women in Film and TV UK and has been part of many firsts for a British Asian woman in cinema. She has collaborated numerous times with the double Oscar and double Grammy winner, AR Rahman, for the music that has adorned her films. In conversation with BBC presenters Sunny & Shay Grewal.

IN CONVERSATION WITH KARAN JOHAR

The son of Bollywood producer Yash Johar of Dharma Productions, Karan Johar followed in his father's illustrious footsteps without missing a beat, ably aided by his mother, Hiroo Johar. Starting his career as an actor, he went on to create what is seen as the epitome of Bollywood cinema, working with lavish opulent sets, and working with the biggest names in the business. His foray into cinema came via his role as an assistant director on cousin Aditya Chopra's super hit film Dilwale Dulhania Le Jayenge, where he formed his close working relationship with Shah Rukh Khan and Kajol, creating his directorial debut, the multiple award winning Kuch Kuch Hota Hai. His work with Kabhi Khushi Kabhie Gham... starring Amitabh Bachchan and Jaya Bachchan followed to great success. His unique talent has resulted in his career expanding in cinema and also a large audience following in television. He speaks to Girls On Film and BBC's Anna Smith about his incredible career.

IN CONVERSATION WITH PAM CULLEN

Pam Cullen at 97 years young, is a true legend, with an incredible career spanning over fifty years in the Indian film industry. In this very rare, frank and at times witty Interview Pam talks to author and producer Nasreen Munni Kabir about her unique life and work. It starts in the 1940s, rebelling against her conservative English parents to join the 'Free India' movement and becoming involved with the nascent Indian High Commission and then the early National Film Development Corporation of India. Pam recounts her career experiences with the Indian independence leader V.K.Krishna Menon, setting up the UK's first Indian film screening after WW2. She later worked with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi and befriended the shy young Satyajit Ray on his early visits to London, rubbing shoulders with such luminaries as Charlie Chaplin and managing Raj Kapoor's press schedule in the golden age of cinema.

IN CONVERSATION WITH AVTAR PANESAR

Behind the surface glamour of the film industry are the key industry professionals who dynamically make it all happen. We are delighted to celebrate and talk to one such British hero Avtar Panesar, who over the last thirty years has been a pioneer of the UK Asian Bollywood film & music scene and has gone on to be a leading light in one of India's biggest hit movie studios - Yash Raj Films.

Avtar talks about his childhood, arrival from Punjab to London's Southall in the 1970s and how his father's strong immigrant work ethic inspired him. Starting as a stockroom assistant with EMI India he climbed to management within the company promoting Indian music. This soon took him into Hindi commercial cinema, where as a young man, his hard work and diligence caught the attention of movie moguls Yash and Aditya Chopra, who handpicked him to execute their vision to set up the company's international operations.

As success followed, Avtar then ascended to greater heights moving back to India at Yash Raj Studios, Mumbai to be dynamically involved with this legendary company's global expansion which now celebrates 50 years of movie-making.

EMERGENCE	1989   24 Mins
MEMORY PICTURES	1986   20 Mins
FLESH & PAPER	1990   27 Mins

Our second programme of documentaries by legendary filmmaker Pratibha Parmar charts the rise of a new generation of Asian artists in Britain and globally from the mid 1980s to early 90s, with pioneering artists who broke artistic and cultural boundaries who were shaped by feminist and sexual politics. These films include rare conversations with photographer Sunil Gupta, visual artist Sutapa Biswas and acclaimed writer poet Sunita Namjoshi, who explore their practice and thoughts on contemporary culture. Parmar's free-flowing montage style brings artists and their works together, which in itself creates a sensory discourse.

BEND IT LIKE BECKHAM

English, Punjabi, Hindi
with English subtitles
UK 2002 | 112 Mins

Dir: Gurinder Chadha
With: Parminder Nagra, Keira Knightley, Anupam Kher

Come along and help celebrate this hit movie's 20th anniversary! Gurinder Chadha's joyous, feel good drama tells the story of Jess, whose parents are trying to raise her in a traditional Indian way, but all she wants to do is play football like her idol, David Beckham. While her flamboyant elder sister is preparing for her ornate wedding and a life of married bliss, Jess chances upon a professional women's football team and sees an opportunity to chase her dreams... and a soccer ball.

BRICK LANE

English, Bengali, Arabic
with English subtitles
UK, Bangladesh 2007 | 102 Mins

Dir: Sarah Gavron
With: Tannishtha Chatterjee,
Satish Kaushik, Christopher Simpson

Director Sarah Gavron's (Rocks, Suffragette), BAFTA winning debut feature tells the story of Nazneen (Tannishtha Chatterjee), who's mother always told her she was a born survivor. Trapped within the four walls of her small flat in East London, in a loveless marriage with the middle aged Chanu, Nazneen however fears her soul is quietly dying. Hearing stories of her sister's carefree life back in Bangladesh, Nazneen struggles to accept her lot, and tries to plough on with her life, that's until a handsome and hotheaded young Market trader comes knocking at her door. Actor Tannishtha Chatterjee gained international notoriety with this controlled, yet commanding central performance.

MUTINY: ASIANS STORM BRITISH MUSIC

English
UK 2003 | 83 Mins

Dir: Vivek Bald

An absorbing and thrilling account of the contribution of Asian musicians to British pop in the 90s. Over the course of seven years Vivek Bald captured the rise and fall of what was always imperfectly described as the “Asian Underground”. Shot with virtually no budget in a style that mirrored the ethos of the featured legendary artists such as Asian Dub Foundation, Talvin Singh and Fun^Da^Mental. Mutiny: Asians Storm British Music is part music documentary, part social history and remains as a unique time-capsule on the music culture of the British Asian second generation.

MUGHAL-E-AZAM

Urdu with English subtitles
India 1960 | 197 Mins

Dir: K Asif
With: Prithviraj Kapoor,
Madhubala, Dilip Kumar

Think mirrored palaces, sumptuous technicolor and unforgettable songs. Mughal-E-Azam has it all! K Asif's spectacular epic historical drama tells the tale of a timeless love affair. Heir to the throne, Prince Salim (Dilip Kumar), has matured from a self-indulgent only child into a victorious and distinguished warrior. When he returns to the Mughal court he soon falls for the gorgeous, if lowly born, court dancer Anarkali (Madhubala), it provokes the ire of his father, Mughal emperor Akbar (Prithviraj Kapoor), who forbids them from getting married. As Anarkali takes a stand for her man, risking execution, father-son conflict explodes into a full blown battle.

A joyous and inspiring tale of an older woman challenging society's narrow expectations of her. Mrs Sharma is the quiet 'ideal' wife of a government official living in a modest two story house in the small town of Allahabad. When her husband suddenly dies, she is expected to follow Indian custom and move in with her son and grandchildren, but she has other plans. Mrs Sharma wants, at long last, to explore her life and try new experiences, but this soon starts the neighbours gossiping, resulting in family tensions that soon threaten to curtail her new found freedoms.

This documentary feature, shot in stunning 4K, is filmed across the subcontinent, charting the giant rain system's path as it surges toward and gradually engulfs every region of India. It is a breathtaking cinematic journey into a terrain where nature, science, belief and wonder converge. It introduces us to a remarkable array of individuals whose lives are in different ways entwined with the phenomenon. For some, the great rains will be a time of bountiful sustenance, for others it will be a time of great hardship. All are caught in this timeless human drama. The outstanding score, composed by London's own Andrew T. MacKay, is based on the Malhar ragas and perfectly complements the multiple-award winning director's epic vision.

HANK AND ASHA

English
USA 2013 | 73 Mins

*Dir: James E. Duff
With: Andrew Pastides,
Mahira Kakkar*

Winner of the Slamdance Audience Award, this tender delight of a movie tells of the courtship of two loveable young strangers searching for connection in an online world. Adorable Indian, Asha, is studying in Prague, where she watches a film by an American, called Hank, which she adores, but misses him at the post screening Q&A, so she takes a risk and sends him a video blog. To her surprise handsome Hank responds with a video blog from his home in New York. Very quickly the two bond and are soon communicating regularly and before they know it, they plan their first actual date in Paris, but one of them has held back a secret.

RUNWAY

Bangla with English subtitles
Bangladesh 2010 | 90 Mins

Dir: Tareque Masud
With: Fall Haque, Rabeya Akter Moni,
Ali Ahsan

Winner of a Cannes prize for his triumph The Clay Bird, this is the last offering from Tareque Masud who tragically died in an accident in 2011. Teenage Ruhul lives with his family in a small hut next to the runway of Dhaka international airport. His family struggle to make a living while he spends his days wandering under the shadow of the planes, aimless and frustrated in his futile efforts to find work. One day at a cyber-cafe he meets computer geek Arif (Ahsan) who introduces him to a group of other young men and what seems an inspiring new religious sect, but all is not what it seems and he quickly gets pulled into a world of violent revolutionary politics.

ONE CRAZY THING

English
UK 2016 | 94 Mins

Dir: Amit Gupta
With: Ray Panthaki, Daisy Bevan,
Dan Renton Skinner

This delightful charmer follows Jay, a former daytime TV star who is haunted by the sex tape that destroyed his life and turned his unknown actress girlfriend into an A-list Hollywood celebrity. As he cowers in obscurity managing his family's Indian restaurant, he meets his dream girl Hannah, a beautiful American music student who hates modern life, and above all, dishonesty. Jay must now confront the errors of his past, rather than hiding from his future. Filled with warmth, music and delicious Indian food, the film is also a celebration of modern London in all her glory. It features a winning performance from BAFTA Breakthrough Brit Ray Panthaki and a star-making turn from Daisy Bevan, the latest entrant from the revered Redgrave acting dynasty.

MY HOME INDIA

English, Polish with English subtitles
India, Poland 2019 | 45 Mins

Dir: Anjali Bhushan
With: Kira Banasinska, Wanda Novicka-Kashikar, Wanda Kuras

This inspirational tear-jerker documentary uncovers a little-known story of unimaginable humanity, generosity and kindness. Towards the end of WW2, the Polish ambassadorial team in Bombay, led by the determined heroine Kira Banasinska and supported by several Indian states, dispatched a convoy of food relief and other essentials, thousands of miles to help the Polish refugees in Soviet Siberian labour camps. The expedition however returned to India with 5,500 women and children in the supplies trucks. Thanks to Kira and the hospitality of Indians, the refugees were welcomed and given dedicated settlements in Maharashtra. Over 70 years later a number of now elderly Polish people return for the first time to India to see where they experienced the joys of childhood.

COURT

Marathi with English subtitles
India 2019 | 116 Mins

Dir: Chaitanya Tamhane
With: Vivek Gomber, Vira Sathidar, Geetanjali Kulkarni

Chaitanya Tamhane's tightly scripted and confidently directed second feature is set around a single court case in a Maharashtrian town. Within this seemingly simple courtroom drama, a subtle and fascinating exploration of the state of the nation India, westernised versus revisionist traditionalist values is uncovered. The outcome is increasingly unsettling, even dangerous, as the seeming stability and order of the British Raj based court system, is pitted against a changing India. An ageing, activist, folk singer is charged with inciting a sewerage worker to commit suicide by one of his 'inflammatory' songs. His defence lawyer, a westernised man defends the rights of the artist, while the female prosecutor states the singer, as the police have described him, is a threat to national security.
